NAPO WASHINGTON REPORT

NAPO President Testifies at Task Force on 21st Century Policing
Listening Session

On December 18, 2014, President Obama signed an Executive Order to create the Task Force on 21st Century Policing, and announced its members, which includes NAPO. NAPO is the only police rank and file group in the nation to have a seat on the Commission itself. Our Treasurer, Sean Smoot, of the Illinois PB&PA, was appointed by the President to the Commission.

On January 30, 2015, NAPO’s President, Mick McHale, testified at the Task Force’s second listening session, which focused on “Policy & Oversight.” Mr. McHale was included in a panel to explain law enforcement’s perspective on “use of force” policies.

In his testimony, Mr. McHale explained that force is not something officers want to be put in a position to use. He also stressed that criticism of police by political leadership has made law enforcement officers’ jobs more dangerous. Mr. McHale’s recommendations to the panel included: educating the public about police and their duties; having political leadership publicly support grand jurors and other public officials when they make correct, but unpopular decisions; and encouraging citizens to take part in civilian-police interactions, such as patrol car ride-alongs.

Mr. McHale’s full written testimony is available at the following site: http://www.cops.usdoj.gov/pdf/taskforce/submissions/McHale-Michael-Testimony.pdf
NAPO was grateful for the opportunity to testify at the listening session, and we will continue to make our voice heard as the Commission moves forward.

Judiciary Committee Confirmation Hearings – Attorney General Nominee

Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Chuck Grassley (R-IA) held confirmation hearings for attorney general nominee Loretta Lynch on January 28-29, 2015.

President Barack Obama officially nominated Loretta Lynch, a United States attorney from New York, as the next Attorney General of the United States at a White House ceremony on November 8, 2014. Lynch is an experienced prosecutor, with deep relationships inside the Justice Department, and a long history of litigating political corruption, terrorism, and organized crime cases.

Notably, during the hearings, Attorney Lynch discussed the need to strengthen relationships between law enforcement and the communities they serve.

NAPO continues to evaluate Attorney Lynch’s nomination, and we are closely following the confirmation process. We will continue to keep our members updated.

If you have any questions about this nomination, please contact Bill Johnson at: bjohnson@napo.org.

Don’t Tax Our Fallen Public Safety Heroes Act

On January 28, 2015, Senator Kelly Ayotte (R-NH) and Congressman Erik Paulsen (R-MN) reintroduced the “Don’t Tax Our Fallen Public Safety Heroes Act.” This legislation clarifies that both federal and state death benefits for the survivors of law enforcement officers killed in the line of duty should be treated the same and not be subjected to federal income tax. Survivor benefits for federal law enforcement officers are currently not subject to federal income tax, but there is some ambiguity about the treatment of these benefits for similar state-based programs.

NAPO will continue to expend all available efforts to pass this important legislation. If you have any questions about this legislation, please contact Melissa Nee at: mnee@napo.org.

NAPO Meetings on Capitol Hill - Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Act

On January 29, 2015, NAPO joined fellow stakeholders in meetings with Senator Al Franken (D-MN) and senior staffers for Senator Roy Blunt (R-MO) to express support for the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Act (JMHCA). (Senator Franken sponsored the JMHCA in the 113th Congress).

The Mentally Ill Offender Treatment and Crime Reduction Act (MIOTCRA) created the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program (JMHCP) to help states and counties design and implement collaborative efforts between criminal justice and mental health systems. The JMHCA reauthorizes the successful MIOTCRA and extends the JMHCP for five years. The JMHCP can help law enforcement agencies across the United States in their responsibilities in assisting citizens with mental health issues.

NAPO expended much effort to garner support for the JMHCA during the last Congress, and was successful in building a strong bipartisan list of cosponsors in both chambers. NAPO also assisted in efforts to pass the bill out of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

NAPO looks forward to continuing to work with fellow stakeholders during this Congress to reintroduce and pass this important legislation.

NAPO will continue to provide our members with updates on the status of this legislation. If you have any questions about the JMHCA, please contact Melissa Nee at: mnee@napo.org.

NAPO Meeting on Capitol Hill - James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Reauthorization Act

On January 30, 2015, NAPO met with staffers for the following members of Congress to express our strong support for the James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Reauthorization Act: Senator Kirsten Gillibrand (D-NY), Senator Chuck Schumer (D-NY), Congresswoman Carolyn Maloney (D-NY), Congressman Jerry Nadler (D-NY), and Congressman Peter King (R-NY).

The Zadroga bill’s two critical programs providing medical treatment and compensation for 9/11 heroes – the World Trade Center Health Program and the September 11th Victim Compensation Fund – are set to expire in October 2015 and October 2016 respectively. This legislation, (introduced during the 113th Congress), would continue these programs for 25 more years, through 2041.

9/11 responders and survivors are still battling serious health crises resulting from exposure to the toxins at Ground Zero. More than 30,000 9/11 responders and survivors have an illness or injury caused by the attacks or their aftermath, and over two-thirds of those have more than one illness. Many are disabled and can no longer work. They are suffering from a host of chronic diseases: asthma, obstructive pulmonary disease and gastroesophageal reflux disease, and many more.

Medical research has identified more than 60 types of cancer caused by 9/11 toxins. More than 2,900 people have been diagnosed with cancers caused or made worse by the aftermath of the attacks - more than 800 New York Fire Department members and more than 550 New York Police Department personnel are struggling with serious 9/11-related illnesses, not including the more than 70 firefighters and 60 NYPD officers who have died from their 9/11-related illnesses.

Responders came from all over the country to aid in the response to the attacks. And some area residents, workers, and survivors have since moved and are currently receiving care in cities and states across the country. Participants enrolled in the World Trade Center Health Program for treatment currently reside in all 50 states and in 429 of the 435 Congressional districts in the country.

These heroes put their lives on the line to serve us, and must be afforded every resource available as they cope with chronic health conditions caused by exposure to toxic chemicals at the World Trade Center.

This legislation will also honor those who made the ultimate sacrifice to protect our nation. James Zadroga, a New York City Police Department Detective and member of NAPO, died of respiratory disease caused by his exposure to toxic chemicals at Ground Zero. It is our obligation and duty to remember these heroes and ensure that survivors who risked their lives to protect us continue to receive the treatment and compensation that they deserve.

NAPO looks forward to working with key law enforcement stakeholders to pass this important legislation during the 114th Congress. If you have any questions about this legislation, please contact Bill Johnson at: bjohnson@napo.org.

NAPO Meeting on Capitol Hill – Senator Boxer

On January 29, 2015, NAPO met with a senior staffer for Senator Barbara Boxer (D-CA) to provide background on our organization. In addition to discussing the Don’t Tax Our Fallen Public Safety Heroes Act, Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Act, and Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act, NAPO provided information on the Bulletproof Vest Partnership Grant Program Reauthorization Act.

In January, Senator Patrick Leahy (D-VT) and Congressman Frank LoBiondo (R-NJ) reintroduced legislation to reauthorize the lifesaving Bulletproof Vest Partnership (BVP) Grant Program, a federal grant program that helps state and local law enforcement agencies purchase bulletproof vests for officers working in the field. The BVP Grant Program has issued more than one million lifesaving vests to 13,000 state and local law enforcement agencies throughout the country since it was established in 1999. NAPO continues to expend all available efforts to garner support for this important legislation.

The staffer was very receptive, and we look forward to working with Senator Boxer and her staff during this Congress. If you have any questions about this meeting, please contact Melissa Nee at: mnee@napo.org.

Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act

On January 30, 2015, NAPO joined other stakeholders in a discussion on strategies to move Senator John Cornyn’s (R-TX) Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act forward. This legislation would boost support for and protection of victims of human trafficking by increasing law enforcement resources, enhancing victims’ services, and increasing penalties in an effort to combat child sex trafficking, child pornography, sexual exploitation, and human trafficking.
We are committed to working with Senator Cornyn and his staff to ensure this legislation is passed. Senator Cornyn has highlighted NAPO’s efforts to pass the bill in his press releases, including the following release: http://www.cornyn.senate.gov/public/index.cfm?p=NewsReleases&ContentRecord_id=8358cac8-2ad6-4ce7-89b5-6c412731f3fa.

Additionally, a version of Senator Cornyn’s Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act, sponsored by Congressman Ted Poe (R-TX), passed the House of Representatives by voice vote last week. This legislation is a scaled down version of Senator Cornyn’s bill. NAPO is working to ensure the more robust version becomes law, but does not object to any of the tenets outlined in Congressman Poe’s bill.

If you have any questions about the Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act, please contact Melissa Nee at: mnee@napo.org.

Electronic Communications Privacy Act

As noted in last week’s Washington Report, Congressman Matt Salmon (R-AZ) has reintroduced the Electronic Communications Privacy Act (ECPA) Amendments Act of 2015. This legislation is intended to bring outdated Federal electronic privacy laws into the digital age. The bill makes changes ECPA to establish a search warrant requirement for the government to obtain Americans’ e-mails and other electronic communications from third-party service providers.

Today, NAPO sent the attached letter of opposition to this bill. NAPO is very concerned that the legislation adds unnecessary warrant requirements. Warrants take much longer to secure as compared with the current practice of officers obtaining a court order. This is of particular concern in time critical cases, such as active kidnapping or child abduction cases. Moreover, warrants require an affidavit, which generally becomes public. These documents have the potential to expose law enforcement and informant identities and methods.

There are effective law enforcement policies and procedures already in place on these issues at the state and local level. The warrant requirement included in this legislation would present a huge obstacle to legitimate law enforcement needs. Furthermore, NAPO does not feel that a one-size fits all approach is appropriate for these matters.

NAPO will continue to express these concerns to members of Congress, and we will keep our members updated on the status of this legislation. If you have any questions about this legislation, please contact Bill Johnson at: bjohnson@napo.org.

NAPO Attends DHS Roundtable Discussion on Efforts to End Human Trafficking

On January 28, 2015, NAPO attended a Department of Homeland Security (DHS) roundtable discussion on efforts to end human trafficking. The Commissioner of U.S. Customs and Border Protection, Gil Kerlikowske, opened the meeting, which included the following members of DHS:

- Assistant Secretary Heather Fong, Office of State and Local Law Enforcement
- Deputy Director Dan Ragsdale, Immigration and Customs Enforcement
- Scott Santoro, Senior Training Advisor, DHS Blue Campaign/Federal Law Enforcement Training Center

Mr. Santoro provided information on the DHS Blue Campaign, which is a project DHS has developed to raise public awareness and increase law enforcement training to combat trafficking. The Blue Campaign website, (http://www.dhs.gov/blue-campaign), includes training for law enforcement officers to help identify victims of trafficking during the course of their duties.

Roundtable participants were provided an opportunity to discuss efforts to combat human trafficking, including lessons learned, challenges, and potential areas for more collaboration. NAPO used this opportunity to highlight our work on the Hill to pass the Justice for Victims of Trafficking Act.

NAPO will continue to provide updates on our efforts to combat human trafficking. If you have any questions about this discussion, please contact Melissa Nee at: mnee@napo.org.

NAPO’s Legislative Positions Update

NAPO’s “Legislative Positions” document is attached. The table includes legislation, introduced during the 114th Congress, which impacts our members. NAPO will update this table regularly, and continue to ensure our voice is heard on Capitol Hill.

If you have any questions about any of the legislation that NAPO is currently working, please contact Melissa Nee at: mnee@napo.org.

Please monitor NAPO’s website www.napo.org, and Facebook page: National Association of Police Organizations, and follow us on Twitter at NAPOpolice for breaking news and updates.
