Dear President Biden:

On behalf of the National Association of Police Organizations (NAPO) and the more than 241,000 rank-and-file law enforcement officers we represent across the United States, I am writing regarding your May 7, 2021 Proclamation on Peace Officers Memorial Day and Police Week, 2021.

We appreciate that you felt you needed to issue a Proclamation and value its recognition of the contributions of the men and women who serve in law enforcement, particularly over the past-year, which, as you state, has been incredibly challenging for law enforcement officers. However, we note that it was not at all a strong statement in support of our nation’s law enforcement community, particularly in light of the declarations made by members of your Cabinet, specifically Attorney General Garland and Homeland Security Secretary Mayorkas, marking National Police Week and National Peace Officers Memorial Day.

For one week a year, we as a nation recognize the sacrifice and heroism of the men and women who serve in law enforcement. This year, the names of 394 officers who paid the ultimate sacrifice in service to their communities were added to the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial in Washington, D.C. Men and women faithfully and selflessly serve and protect their communities as law enforcement officers and during National Police Week they deserve respect and recognition for their work without qualifying it with statements on the need for improvement.

Thus, we are profoundly disappointed that you chose to use this Proclamation as a raw political messaging opportunity, and apparently felt the need to toss a sop to anti-police extremists instead of simply honoring the fallen.

Mr. President, we appreciate your consideration of our concerns and we look forward to working with you to better support our nation’s law enforcement officers.

Sincerely,

Michael McHale
President
